Program seeking mentors for students

Mentors are needed for the Orlando/Orange County COMPACT program so more Orange County students at risk of dropping out of school can be served.

In a letter from Patrick Knipe, chair of COMPACT's board of directors, to President John Hitt, he asked the president to encourage employees on all levels to donate one hour a week to spend with an at-risk student. Volunteers will not be asked for money.

"While there is no shortage of students who need this vital, proven program to help them stay in school, there is a critical shortage of mentors," Knipe said. "Mentors are the mainstay and mortar of the COMPACT program. They help hold lives together. They make a difference."

COMPACT's goal is to be in all Orange County high schools by 1994. The program currently serves more than 600 students.

Those interested in finding out more information about COMPACT can call 425-1234, ext. 203.

Newspaper donates $10,000 to university

The Orlando Sentinel has donated $10,000 to support three programs at UCF.

The library received a $6,000 challenge grant. The money will be used to fund a new educational collection in early childhood education. For the next few months, The Sentinel will match all donations up to $6,000 received by the library.

Another $3,000 went to the International Writers Series to expand the program.

The UCF McKnight Center for Excellence received $1,000. The center identifies and rewards honor students in kindergarten through 12th grade.

Placement tests required for nurses

Registered nurses entering the R.N. to B.S.N. program at UCF are required to pass advanced placement tests.

The National League for Nursing Mobility Examinations will be given on the Daytona Beach campus Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 9 and 10. These examinations will not be repeated until spring.

Inauguration showcases UCF, campus

The inauguration ceremony of President John Hitt as UCF's fourth president will be the star attraction in a weeklong medley of inaugural activities, but another event is expected to add to the excitement.

Organizers of this month's inauguration activities are predicting that one of the highlights will be the Campus Showcase, an event featuring student and faculty exhibits. The showcase will be open on Nov. 19, 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

This will be the first time in the university's history that a showcase has been presented on such a large scale.

Increased spring class schedule could provide enrollment boost

The University of Central Florida will offer a record number of spring semester classes in a calculated effort to speed students' academic progress towards degrees while solving a potential funding problem caused by unusually low enrollments last summer.

In an announcement Monday, President John Hitt said he has

Memorandum

To: Faculty and staff
From: John Hitt, president
Subject: A thank you for past and future cooperation

Now that the fall semester is well advanced and the spring term is just over the horizon, I want to thank faculty and staff for both past and future efforts to serve the educational needs of our students.

As many of you know, this fall UCF added 180 classes above and beyond the normal roster of sections to speed students' progress towards degrees and to minimize the likelihood of returning funding to the Board of Regents Office if we fail to meet our tuition income goal. The effort was great, the results significant (we cut the income shortfall in half), and complaints were few. To all who helped — faculty, staff, office managers, administrators, student employees, everyone — my heartfelt thanks.

Now the rest of the story: even if we succeed in equaling the fall enrollment in the spring term, we still face the prospect of a shortfall of $250,000 in tuition and other fees that make up the incidental revenue trust fund. So we need to do even better next spring than we have done this fall. Otherwise, UCF might have to rebate to the Board of Regents Office an amount equal to the shortfall in our incidental revenue trust fund. Beyond that, UCF's funding base for next year will shrink.

To avoid both undesirable consequences, I have authorized the expenditure of some $350,000 from reserve accounts to add over 200 sections in high-demand courses. We seek to attract new students and to provide an incentive for returning students to assume a heavier credit load, should their circumstances permit. Our choice seems simple: invest funds to meet students' needs, or risk returning those funds because of a shortfall in the incidental revenue trust fund and see our funding base eroded.

With your continued cooperation and hard work, we will meet the challenge.

Again, many thanks for your efforts on behalf of UCF.

To: Vice presidents, deans, chairs, directors, other supervisory staff
From: John Bolte, administration and finance
Subject: Inaugural activities

President John Hitt will be inaugurated on Nov. 19. The president would appreciate your assistance in providing an opportunity for your staff to participate in inaugural activities.

Of special interest is the campus showcase that is scheduled from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on the day of the inaugural ceremony. The campus showcase will consist of exhibits, displays and presentations by faculty from each college as well as many of the 150 registered student organizations. Food and beverages will also be available to be enjoyed while browsing among the displays and exhibits. In addition, music and entertainment will also be part of the showcase activities.

It is our hope that staff will utilize their lunch times to participate in and enjoy these events. It is requested that as much flexibility in their working schedule as you deem appropriate be used to encourage their participation.

Thank you for your cooperation.

To: All non-unit A&P employees
From: Mark Roberts, personnel services
Subject: Outside activity/employment/conflict of interest

In accordance with BOR requirements, as stipulated in rule 6C7-3.018, Outside Employment, all non-unit A&P employees are required to submit and/or renew their Report of Outside Activity/Employment/Conflict of Interest (Rev. 8/91) form, annually in the fall if it is applicable.

Please note that in-unit A&P employees are required to submit and/or renew their Outside Activities/employment form annually, in accordance with the UFF collective bargaining agreement. Activities/employment which have the potential for conflict of interest, such as ownership of stock in a company which does business with UCF; officer, director, partner in a company which does business with UCF; contractual relationships with companies which do business with UCF; relationship with companies writing textbooks or instructional materials used at UCF; political office; and, any like involvements must be reported and renewed each year. Additionally, any employee who intends to use any university facilities or equipment in connection with outside activities/employment is required to submit this report of their intentions, as delineated in the rule and form.

All non-unit A&P employees are required to submit advance and annual reports of their intention to engage in outside employment whenever such employment and/or business activity may result in compensation of more than $1,000 in any calendar year, in addition to those circumstances indicated previously in this paragraph.

The above-mentioned report shall be completed and forwarded to the director, university personnel services, for inclusion in the employee's personnel record.

For further information or questions with regard to this policy, contact university personnel services, x2771. The form can be obtained at university personnel office, ADM 230.

To: All USPS employees
From: Mark Roberts, personnel services
Subject: Outside activity/employment/conflict of interest

In accordance with BOR requirements, as stipulated in rule 6C7-3.018, Outside Employment, all employees are required to submit and/or renew their Report of Outside Activity/Employment/Conflict of Interest (Rev. 8/91) form, annually in the fall under certain circumstances. Those circumstances are if they plan to undertake outside activities/employment in which they plan to use any university facilities or equipment in connection with such matters or if such activities/employment have the potential for conflict of interest, such as ownership of stock in a company which does business with UCF; officer, director, partner in a company which does business with UCF; contractual relationships with companies which do business with UCF; relationship with companies writing textbooks or instructional materials used at UCF; political office; and, any like involvements must be reported and renewed each year.

Additionally, any employee who intends to use any university facilities or equipment in connection with outside activities/employment is required to submit this report of their intentions, as delineated in the rule and form. USPS employees are not required to report outside employment if none of the above-stated factors apply.

The above-mentioned report shall be completed and forwarded to the director, university personnel services, for inclusion in the employee's personnel record.

From: Frank Juge, academic affairs
Subject: UCF Foundation Minority Graduate Fellowship awards

Through the generosity of the UCF Foundation, three UCF Foundation Minority Graduate Fellowships in the amount of $1,650 have been made available for prospective new graduate students. The moneys will be paid in two equal installments after the add-drop period of the fall 1993 and spring 1994 semesters.

Please note that the fellowships are for the purposes of academic recruitment; that is, support of new students. New students are defined as U.S. citizens who will begin their graduate education at UCF in the 1993 summer or fall term.

Continuing or presently enrolled graduate status students are not eligible. The fellowships are intended to supplement existing support in order to recruit high quality students to the university.

The deadline for application is April 9. Please bring this opportunity to the immediate attention of any prospective minority graduate applicants. The application deadline is well in advance of the deadlines for application for the summer or fall terms for admission to UCF.

Award announcements will be made on or about April 23.

Subject: Building services operations

In February, building services had to reduce its frequency of service due to limited resources. Unfortunately, this situation still exists. In an effort to concentrate our cleaning activities in the most vital areas of the campus, we must continue with the operational and scheduling changes made in building services last February. Our changes that will continue are as follows:

1. Trash containers, except in lounges and vending areas, will be emptied once a week.
    - Please restrict eating and drinking in classrooms.
    - To minimize potential problems with ants, roaches, etc., please dispose all food-related trash in the trash containers located in lounges and vending areas.
  2. Vacuuming of offices, office suites, conference rooms, and reception areas will be done once a week.
  3. All requests for office moves will be scheduled only on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month as follows:
    - Small moves (two office maximum) will be done by the building services staff.
    - All other moves will be done by contract movers.
    - Moves involving situations off campus will be done by contract movers.
    - Moves will be scheduled on a first-come/first-served basis.
    - To have a move scheduled, please call the Work Management Center, x5223.
  4. In those situations where furniture and/or equipment must be picked up off campus, call central receiving, x5268. The requesting department will be responsible to reimburse central receiving for the cost associated with the pick-up.
  5. Daily service of classrooms, rest rooms, lounges, vending rooms, and locker rooms will not be changed.
  6. The schedule for servicing the recycling containers will not be changed.
- We regret the need to continue this schedule and appreciate your support and understanding.

If you have any questions, please call Pat Remsen, x2386.

Hitt invites UCF community to inauguration celebration

The entire UCF community and friends of the university are being encouraged to participate in the inauguration celebration of John Hitt when he is officially inducted as the university's fourth president on Nov. 19.

The inauguration ceremony will cap a week of activities preceding the event. It will be held in the education building gymnasium at 2 p.m.

Highlighted events leading up to the inauguration include guest lecturer Terry Anderson, a journalist and former Middle East hostage. Anderson's lecture is "Home at Last," and he will speak in the UCF Arena on Monday, Nov. 16, at 8 p.m.

An inaugural exhibition basketball game pitting UCF against the Ukrainian National Team will be in the arena on Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 7:30 p.m.

Hitt

Campus Showcase, featuring outdoor displays presented by colleges, departments, institutes, centers and student organizations, will take place near the reflecting pond on Nov. 19, 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m. Refreshments will include a 100-foot submarine sandwich.

Hitt was named UCF president by the Board of Regents on Dec. 4, following the resignation of Steven Altman. UCF

President Emeritus Charles Millican, founding president, and Trevor Colbourn, his successor, are scheduled to participate in the ceremony.

Prior to joining UCF, Hitt was interim president of the

Former hostage to lecture

Former Middle East hostage Terry Anderson will discuss his seven-plus-year ordeal in captivity during a lecture at UCF as part of the five days of activities celebrating the inauguration of President John Hitt.

Anderson

Anderson's lecture is titled "Home at Last," and will be in the UCF Arena on Monday, Nov. 16, at 8 p.m. The lecture is a part of the university's Campus Activities Board Distinguished Lecture Series. It is free and open to the public.

Anderson will give an account of the seven years he was held hostage by Shiite Muslims. Then chief Middle East correspondent for the Associated Press, he was abducted on March 16, 1985, while returning home from a tennis game. Four armed men forced him into a green Mercedes. He joined six Americans and Britons who also had been taken hostage during a yearlong kidnapping spree. The hostages were kept isolated and only heard news of the outside world from their captors.

After the Gulf War, the balance of power in the Middle East shifted, favoring the release of the hostages. Anderson, who was imprisoned for 2,454 days, was the last to be freed.

While in captivity, Anderson and the others were shuffled from place to place to thwart rescue attempts and were frequently abused. Their captors often chained them to radiators, beat them, kept them from sunlight, and forced them to wear blindfolds. One guard even staged a mock execution.

Despite the hopelessness of his situation, Anderson quietly kept himself as strong as possible. He did sit-ups and calisthenics as best as his cramped quarters allowed. He used the long stretches of empty time to exercise his mind, fantasizing in intricate detail about building a farm, a house and a restaurant once he was free. Anderson's fortitude is said to have been an inspiration for his fellow prisoners.

Upon his release, hostage Thomas Sutherland reportedly said, "Without Terry Anderson, I couldn't have made it for six and one-half years."

Together the hostages read from Bibles and played chess with makeshift pieces crafted from bits of cheese and tinfoil.

Anderson was born Oct. 27, 1947, in Ohio, but was raised in New York state, where he was an honors student and Boy Scout. He served in the Marines for six years. He covered the Far East and South Africa for AP before being assigned to AP's Beirut bureau.

"The showcase should really be something very special and a chance to get students, faculty and staff together," Ann Schuster, Wilson's assistant, said.

All university employees and students are welcome to tour the Campus Showcase. University officials are encouraging employees and students to visit during the lunch hour.

"I think everyone will be pleased in what there is to see," Wilson said. "Our hope is that everyone will come out and enjoy the showcase."

During the showcase, students, faculty and staff will make presentations to Hitt.

There will also be various entertainment. For instance, three ethnic dances will be performed by students outside the International Student Association display. Groups performing are the Hispanic American Student Association, the Indian Student Association, and the Caribbean Club. The Gospel Choir will also perform a 10-minute gospel selection featuring music and dance.

The list of organizations wanting to be involved in the showcase was still growing early this week. Academic departments, student organizations and other university departments will participate.

Those attending the showcase will be welcome to sample a 100-foot super sub sandwich, carved and served one inch at a time, along with other free foods and beverages.

Rain contingency plans for the Campus Showcase are to relocate to the Student Center Auditorium and surrounding area.

"As far as I'm concerned, this showcase has already been a success in that I have seen overwhelming enthusiasm and support from people wanting to participate," Wilson said.

"I think when people come out and walk through the showcase they're going to enjoy what they see, and it will make them proud. I think Dr. Hitt will be very proud too."

154 apply for provost position as of Nov. 1

Search committee continue accepting applications at least through this month

The provost search committee is sifting through a mountain of applications this month as the number of people applying for the University of Central Florida's second-ranking position continues to swell.

As of the end of October, 154 people had applied for the job, and that number was expected to grow to close to 200 in the next few weeks.

In order to handle the heavy load, the provost search committee has divided itself into four subcommittees. Each will screen 25 percent of the first wave of applications.

"The number is actually in the range we expected, and we're not through yet," committee chair Ronnie Clayton said.

Applications will be accepted at least through November, he said, adding that the committee has not decided on a closing date.

The need to fill the provost position occurred when Richard Astro resigned this summer. He is continuing to work in that job until his replacement is hired.

The next provost could be selected by March, Clayton said.

"The list of applicants looks pretty good to me," he said. "There are good, strong schools represented and good, strong candidates."

"What we want is a small number of very high quality people to bring in as finalists," he said.

After a wave of applications in the first weeks after advertising the position earlier this semester, the number has slowed to a steady trickle.

The provost search committee will screen every application, and try to narrow the pool down to five or six candidates who will be invited to visit the university in January and February. Search committee members will also visit the campuses of finalists to watch the candidates at work in their own environments.

"We're just beginning to look closely at the very initial review procedure right now," Clayton said. "During the next month we plan to make significant progress."

Job well done

President John Hitt presents a plaque thanking Raymond Puskas, minority purchasing coordinator, for the job he did attracting and issuing purchase orders and subcontracts to certified Minority Business Enterprise vendors. Also pictured is John Bolte, vice president of administration and finance. Under the guidance of Puskas, the 1991-92 total MBE expenditures increased to $1.2 million from $134,000 the year before.

Becky Bailey, associate education professor, was the keynote speaker at the Florida Association for Children Under Six Conference. Her topic was satellite teaching in a joint project between UCF and Orange County Public Schools.

Associate English Professor Beth Barnes presented a paper, titled "Ambivalent Journeys: Metaphors of Colonialism," and chaired a session, titled "Rereading 'Clarissa'," at the Midwestern American Society for 18th Century Studies, which met in Toledo, Ohio, Oct. 8-11. She also received a $750 travel grant from the Southern Regional Education Board to conduct research at the European Westward Expansion 1400-1700 Collection of the James Ford Bell Library of the University of Minnesota.

Thomas Evans, accounting professor, attended the seventh International Conference on Accounting Education in Arlington, Va., Oct. 8-10. The theme of the conference was "Accounting Education for the 21st Century: The Global Challenges." He served as the moderator of a program session, "EDP and Auditing Education," at the conference. He previously served on the paper review committee for the program of the conference.

Associate Education Professor Marty Hopkins has been elected vice-president of the board of directors for the Buena Vista Academy in Orlando.

Homecoming 1992 activities expected to spawn weekend of fun, friendships

Parties, a parade, a comedy concert and a football game are just a few of the activities that will be under way Thursday through Saturday to celebrate Homecoming 1992.

A golf tournament will launch the weekend's activities on Thursday, Nov. 5, and the football game between the Fighting Knights and SUNY-Buffalo on Saturday, Nov. 7, will conclude the activities.

Sandwiched between the events are a bundle of other activities.

- Thursday, 8:30 a.m., is the Duffers' Delight Golf Tournament at Alaqua Country Club. A continental breakfast and lunch will be provided.

- Thursday, 8 p.m., comedian Dennis Miller, formerly of "Saturday Night Live" and host of the "Dennis Miller Show," will be in concert at the UCF Arena.

- Friday, 6 p.m., there will be an open house. The Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Engineering, and Health and Public Affairs will be open to alumni and students who will have an opportunity to meet with deans, department heads and faculty.

- Friday, 8 p.m., there will be an alumni all-night party. The gathering for alumni will take place at The Wild Pizza. There will be food, beverages, music, giveaways, and a bonfire.

- Saturday, 9 a.m., there will be an early gathering for alumni. They will meet for a continental breakfast at Church Street Station.

- Saturday, 10:30 a.m., the Homecoming parade will take place in downtown Orlando. The parade will begin at the intersection of Robinson Street and Orange Avenue, and will travel south on Orange to Church Street, and west on Church Street to Church Street Station. A prize will be presented for the best float.

- Saturday, noon, the annual Homecoming tailgate party will take place at Tinker Field. The cost of the event is $6. Children under 12 can eat hotdogs for free. Only the first 700 people will be admitted. Tickets can be purchased at the field.

- Saturday, 2:30 p.m., the Knights will battle SUNY-Buffalo at the Florida Citrus Bowl. To reserve sideline seats call UCF-1000. Reserved tickets are $12. Tickets for unreserved seats are $10 for adults and $5 for those who are 17 and under. Tickets can be purchased at the game.

More than 5,000 alumni are expected to join students and employees in Homecoming celebrations.

Ross Wolf, interim director of alumni relations, said this year's crowd is in for some pleasing changes, noting the parade's location will be in downtown Orlando instead of on campus.

"Having the parade downtown shows that UCF's ties with Orlando are continuing to strengthen," he said. "The event will give alumni who have been away from the city for a while an opportunity to see it with friends."

Vietnam Veterans' Memorial to be dedicated Nov. 9

The UCF Student Veterans' Association will present the Vietnam Veterans Memorial and tree dedication on the green, Monday, Nov. 9, at 11:30 a.m.

Barbara Smith, the surviving spouse of a Vietnam veteran who was shot down in 1966 and listed as missing in action until 1988, will be the guest speaker at the dedication ceremony.

The National Anthem will be sung by Karen Nguyen, a UCF office of veterans' affairs staff member and former resident of South Vietnam. Color guards will be provided by the UCF Army and Air Force ROTC.

Following the dedication ceremony, a seminar, titled "Vietnam From Two Perspectives: The Campus and the Combat Zone," will take place at the Wild Pizza. The seminar will begin at 12:30 p.m., and was taped at Kent State University last spring.

A motion picture, "Article 99," will cap the day's events. It will be shown at the Wild Pizza at 6:30 and 9 p.m., then again on Tuesday, Nov. 10, at noon.

ROTC represents UCF at competition

The UCF Army ROTC Ranger Challenge Team represented the university in the annual Ranger Challenge competition at Fort Stewart, Ga., Oct. 29-Nov. 1.

The team consisted of a nine-person squad with two alternates. They competed against other universities in the Southeast region.

The objective of the competition was to challenge each team to excel in leadership, military skills and teamwork. Events included patrolling, orienting, physical fitness, a 10 kilometer road march, mastering a one-rope bridge, and qualifying on a hand grenade course and with other weapons.

authorized the expenditure of some $350,000 from the university's reserve accounts to add more than 200 sections in high-demand courses during the spring term, which begins Jan. 11.

"By again enriching our class schedules, we are giving our students a greater opportunity to complete their educations on time and to instill a belief that UCF stands for 'U Can Finish,'" Hitt said.

The action is made doubly necessary, Hitt said, by the possibility that UCF might have to return funding to the state unless it can close a tuition income gap caused by low enrollments in last summer's classes. UCF's budget is based on projections that include enrollment and credit hour targets. If the targets are not met, UCF could have to return funding equivalent to the shortfall.

Hitt said that the shortfall was cut in half by the addition of about 180 classes in the current fall semester. Additional spring term classes, he said, will serve the dual purpose of making needed courses more accessible and further minimizing the prospect of returning funding to the state by encouraging current students to take more courses or to attract more new students.

"Our choice," Hitt said, "seems simple: invest funds to meet students' needs or risk returning those funds because of a shortfall in the incidental revenue (tuition) trust fund and see our funding base eroded for next year."

To cover the shortfall, UCF would have to attract about 550 new students for the spring term or encourage one-third of the currently enrolled students to take one more credit than they now are taking. A combination of more new students and a heavier credit load also would work.

UCF's spring roster of class sections will be about six percent higher than the fall schedule and nearly 15 percent greater than last spring's offerings.

University-sponsored workshop teaches managing skills to local officials, Nov. 6

The University of Central Florida department of public administration, along with Florida City and County Management District 3, will sponsor a city managers' workshop for local officials.

The workshop will be in the administration building on Friday, Nov. 6, 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The workshop, which will help the officials develop management skills, will consist of two sessions headed by John Nalbandian of the University of Kansas, who will speak on the topic "Achieving a Balance: The Manager Between Council and Staff," and UCF faculty member Kathryn Denhardt will address the topic "Ethics: Beyond the Smoking Gun."

Nalbandian is one of the country's leading commentators in the field of urban management.

He directed the University of Kansas City Managers' Training Program for a number of years, and authored numerous research reports dealing with urban management.

His latest book, "Professionalism in Local Government: Transformations in the Roles, Responsibilities and Values of City Managers," is being considered as a standard reference on the changing nature of the manager's role in modern cities.

Nalbandian was recently elected to the city commission in Lawrence, Kan.

Denhardt, who recently joined UCF's staff, taught prior at the University of Missouri and the University of Colorado.

She is the author of "The Ethics of Public Service: Resolving Moral Dilemmas in Public Organizations" and numerous articles on administrative ethics. Denhardt is also a past national chair of the American Society for Public Administration Committee on Ethics.

She has conducted ethics workshops for local government officials in several Midwestern states.

The workshop is being organized by Robert Denhardt, chair of the department of public administration.

For information about the workshop, call x2604.

Reflecting on the Dead Sea Scrolls

Lawrence Schiffman, professor of Hebrew and Judaic Studies at New York University, discussed the Dead Sea Scrolls during a lecture at UCF late last month. Schiffman lectured twice at the university. His first talk was "Scholars, Scrolls and Scandals: The Dead Sea Scrolls Controversy." The second was "On Archaeology and the Dead Sea Scrolls." The Judaic studies program at UCF sponsored the lectures as part of the Judaic Studies Distinguished Lecturers Series.

One Day At A Time

Two and one half years ago, Susan Scuta made a discovery that drastically changed her life. Susan had contracted the AIDS virus.

Thinking she had only a few months to live, she sought help from CENTAUR - Central Florida AIDS Unified Resources, a United Way-funded agency which offers a compassionate and understanding environment for all people infected with, or learning about AIDS.

After nine months of counseling at CENTAUR and ongoing support from friends and family, Susan is coping with the disease.

So, if you've ever wondered how your United Way dollars help, just ask Susan. Through your gift, CENTAUR is helping her make the most of every moment of her life - one day at a time.

YOU LIGHT THE WAY

United Way Facts 1,005 people were served and 5,047 hot line calls were taken at CENTAUR last year.

Fair takes bite out of crime

UCF and the Department of Public Safety and Police sponsored the fourth annual Crime Prevention Fair on campus last month.

More than 40 law enforcement and social service organizations participated. They included the Orange County Sheriff's Office; Orlando Police Department; Winter Park Police Department; Orange County Victim Advocates; Mothers Against Drunk Driving; Missing Children Center; and Women in Transition.

Activities included self-defense demonstrations; canine demonstrations; free bicycle registrations; and appearances by McGruff and by OPD-2, the Orlando Police Department robot.
